

A home. A family. A future.

Dream House gives medically fragile children more than a vacation or a fond memory. We help these precious children find their forever home and family for keeps! – Laura O. Moore, Founder and CEO, Dream House for Medically Fragile Children, Inc.

Giving medically fragile children a chance to thrive.

Dream House believes every child deserves a home, a family and a future. Our unique Family for Keeps™ Transition Care Program and related services enable families to care for these children in their own homes. This gives children with complicated health care conditions a chance to be part of a loving home where they are valued and cared for effectively. Dream House is a state-wide resource that empowers communities to help keep these families together.

Medical technology now saves children who would not have survived years ago.

- Whether from disease, circumstances of birth, catastrophic injury or abuse, the conditions cross all diagnoses.
- What's the common thread? They are medically fragile – forever dependent on life-sustaining treatments, medication, therapy or equipment to survive, and require help with activities of daily living.
- Their number is growing exponentially.
- Ironically, the infrastructure to support their extraordinary care doesn't yet exist.
- The very society that makes the decision to save medically fragile children isn't yet prepared to embrace them in a way that makes their lives worth living.
- With the already burdensome task of caring for chronically ill children, families and caregivers are left alone to search and beg for help to get the necessary equipment, supplies and therapy needed to provide adequate care for their children.
- Many families cannot adequately care for them, and when that happens, these children end up being abused, abandoned, then placed in foster care with families woefully unprepared for their complex care.
- As a result, these helpless children float around the system for years, eventually landing in senior adult nursing homes or live out their lives in Georgia hospitals.
- Reaching epidemic proportions, most of us have no idea this tragedy is taking place in our communities, throughout our state, and around the country.

Dream House is making a difference for the future of these children. You can, too!

Dream House makes it possible for medically fragile children to leave the hospital in a more timely manner, keep them out of institutional care, and give them the home, family and future they so desperately need to survive.

Dream House urgently wants to reach more families and communities so they may access the programs, services and resources Dream House provides. We welcome your gifts – time, talents and financial support. As a 501(c)3 charitable organization, Dream House relies solely on private contributions to fund programs and services for medically fragile children and their families throughout Georgia.
